

CASIMIR-PERIER, EX-PRESIDENT OF FRANCE, IS DEAD

Long Prominent in Country's Affairs and Was Friend of Poor.

PARIS, March 12.—M. Casimir-Perier, ex-President of France, died suddenly at 11 o'clock last night of embolism of the heart, at his residence on the Rue Nitot here. The news of his demise was not published until today, when it started Paris.

The ex-President had not been well for two or three days, but it was supposed he was suffering from influenza and no great importance was attached to his indisposition. He was not even confined to his bed, but lunched and dined with his family on Sunday and was in good spirits. At about 5 o'clock yesterday evening an abrupt prostration occurred, the ex-President was put to bed, Dr. Landouzy was called in, and every attention was given to patient, but he died as the physician ministered to him.

Jean Paul Pierre Casimir-Perier was the descendant of a family that was prominent in the affairs of France for more than a century. He was elected President of the Republic in June, 1894, and, much to the amazement of the country, suddenly resigned in the following January. So unexpected was his retirement from the office that for a few days there was consternation. The reason assigned for his step was the inability to hold together a cabinet and conduct the affairs of government without friction.

FOUND DEAD IN ASH BARREL

OFFERS SUCCESSOR TO MASCOT "PINKY"

Alfred G. Vanderbilt to Give Engine Company No. 39 a Puppy.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt was so moved by an account he read last Saturday of the tragic death of "Pinky," the little canine mascot of Engine Company No. 39, adjoining Fire Headquarters, which tumbled into the pole hole when a second alarm rang in, that he has presented the bereaved fire fighters a thoroughbred Dalmatian puppy of imported ancestry. The following letter was received today by the foreman of No. 39:

Foreman Engine Company No. 39:—Dear Sir:—This account in last Saturday's papers of the sad event which so suddenly plunged the members of Engine Company No. 39 into mourning attracted my attention. To make the place of "Pinky," who was so suddenly taken from this world, I would be pleased to present to the members of your company a Dalmatian puppy, just first seen the light nearly six months ago. Its parents were both imported. I have given instructions that the strongest and best marked puppy be sent you by express from my Oakland farm at Newark, N. J., and I trust that you will accept him for her, as the best we can get with my compliments. Very truly yours, ALFRED G. VANDERBILT.

Foreman Levy showed the letter to Fire Commissioner Lantry and asked if he could accept the dog. The Commissioner readily consented and a formal letter of acceptance was penned and sent to Mr. Vanderbilt.

"Pinky" was a great pet with the
